ABOUT US

The Centre for International Cooperation and Development (CMSR) is an independent non-profit research and advisory organisation in the field of international economic relations, the origins of which date back to the 1960s.

The Republic of Slovenia and SID Bank established the CMSR for public interest purposes in the field of international development cooperation. CMSR is an institute that is managed by the CMSR Council and run by the Director.

CMSR carries out basic and applied research, advisory, information, documentation, promotion, education, publishing and intermediary activities in areas relevant to international development cooperation.

It is also the provider of the technical and operational part of the bilateral international development cooperation of the Republic of Slovenia in accordance with the International Development Cooperation and Humanitarian Aid of the Republic of Slovenia Act.

Invitation for submission of development project proposals

CMSR as the implementor of the Slovenian bilateral international development cooperation is inviting you to submit development project proposals for co-financing from the Government resources of the Republic of Slovenia.

The aim of the invitation is to co-finance projects that contribute to the eradication of poverty, reduction of inequality and sustainable development in partner countries and are submitted by public entities.

Projects, eligible for co-financing under the above-mentioned invitation, are projects in the following fields: fight against climate change, with an emphasis on the sustainable management of natural and energy resources, environmental protection, reduction of poverty and inequality, empowerment of women, improvement of social inclusion and acceleration of the green and digital transition.

The conditions for co-financing projects of international development cooperation are:

- The recipient being a public entity;
- Compliance of the project with the resolution, strategic documents and substantive starting points of international development cooperation of the Republic of Slovenia;
- Contributing to the eradication of poverty, the reduction of inequalities or the promotion of sustainable development in a partner country or region as fundamental objectives of international development cooperation;
- Compliance of the project with the demonstrated needs of the partner country;
- Compliance with the obligations under the contract for the co-financing of projects of international development cooperation concluded by the recipient with CMSR (if any contracts were concluded);
- That the project does not contribute to the increased use of fossil fuels.

Project proposals have to be prepared using the Project Proposal Form.

The selection procedure and evaluation of the projects will be carried out according to the Manual for the Implementation of the International Development Cooperation Projects.

STEPS:

- 1. Fill out the Project Proposal Form and send it for review.
- 2. CMSR reviews the proposal and requests additional information, if necessary.
- 3. Supplement the Project Proposal Form if necessary and submit the final version.
- 4. CMSR evaluates the Project Proposal and notifies the potential donation recipient.

Project proposals have to be submitted in English (one copy signed and scanned in pdf and one copy in digital format, along with accompanying documents) to info@cmsr.si.

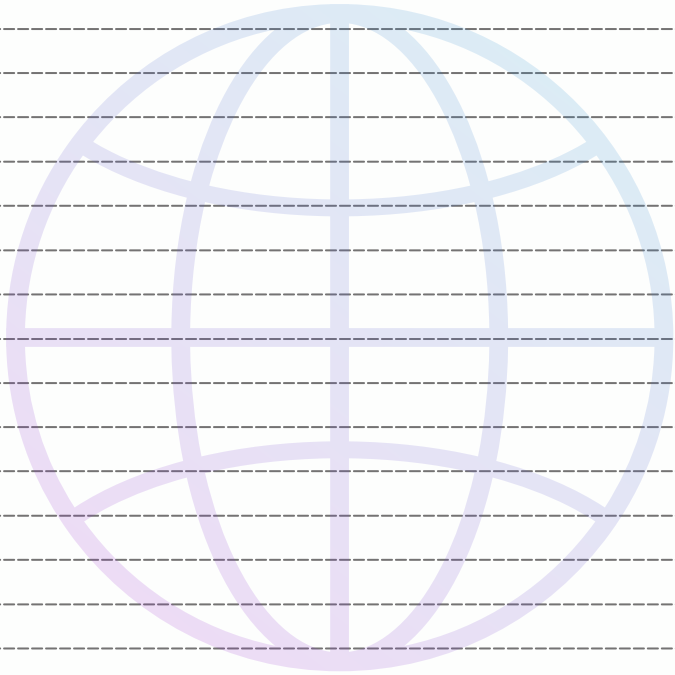

CMSR is accepting the project proposals to be included in the CMSR 2024-2025 programme until January 19th, 2024.
